Dear Barbie,

I've heard from your parents that you've been addicted to playing video games recently. I know those games are attractive and you need to have a short escape from your stressful life. And yet, it doesn't mean that you can stay up late playing video games instead of studying or sleeping. There are a large number of disadvantages of playing video games. Firstly, watching your computer screen for a long time without taking a break is harmful to your eyes. Secondly, playing those games is a waste of your time because you are a 12th grader. Thirdly, buying the softwares of those games cost you a lot. You shouldn't save your money from buying meals and then spend them on those meaningless games. On top of all, your grades has dropped since you spent so much time playing these stupid games. As your good friend, I can't let your <sup>life</sup> be destroyed by the video games. Barbie, please stop playing them. You need to focus on your study rather than the games.

Do you remember that you once told me that you want to enter NTU and then become a great lawyer? Barbie, as long as you get rid of this bad habit and start studying hard from now on, I believe that you have no problems realizing your dream. Once in a lifetime means there's no second chance. Let's keep moving forward together and fulfill our dreams. I believe in the near future, we can both enter our ideal colleges and have a wonderful college life.

Sincerely,

Jill
