

二. 英文作文

I strongly believe that maintaining an enjoyable home environment is the responsibility of every dweller in the house. As the saying goes, "There is no such thing as free lunch." Therefore, while basking in the relaxing atmosphere the house provides, we should also think of doing something in return. Take house chores, for example. The messiness of our houses is caused by every member living in it. Thus, the task of keeping the house clean should also be equally divided. Due to the ^{fact that} home plays an impeccable role in the hearts of every member, every member should also evenly shoulder the responsibility of maintaining it.

In my home, all the chores are divided evenly. While my father is in charge of cleaning the floor, my mother does the laundry. Which leaves me the job of doing the dishes. Unbeknownst to others, doing the dishes brings me not only joy, but also a great sense of accomplishment. Seeing the once greasy plates instantly become smooth and glistening is, in fact, quite tantalizing^{for me}. Many of my classmates often regard me with an incredulous expression when I tell them that doing chores brings me great fun. In my opinion, this is because they regard it as a complete waste of time. Nevertheless, I see it as an act of making our home a cleaner and cozier place. Doing chores is definitely not meaningless. It builds our personality because it indicates that we take things seriously and take full responsibility of every task in our life.
