

二、 On the first day of winter vacation, the Lin family decided to visit Taipei Zoo. They put their luggage into the car and set off in the early morning. Mr. Lin was so happy that he kept singing when driving. However, when they drove on the highway, they found that they were stucked in the traffic jam!

After two hours of waiting, the Lin family finally arrived at the zoo. What they had seen was that there were hundreds of people waiting for entering the zoo. Mr. Lin wanted to find another tourist spot, but his daughter, Cindy, insisted that she wanted to see the pandas. In order to fulfill his lovely daughter's hope, they waited in line for another two hours. They began to be tired and wanted to give up. Cindy even fell asleep on Mr. Lin's shoulder.

Finally, it was their turn to enter the zoo. Much to their surprise, two people in Panda costumes ran to them. "Hello! Congratulations! you are the number 1000 who enter our zoo today!" said one of the Pandas. Another man in suit said continuously, "Therefore, you can visit our zoo for free! I am the manager here, have a nice time!" The Lin family felt so surprised and thought that the long and boring waiting paid off. They laugh delightfully while seeing the Pandas eat bamboos. "We are really lucky, aren't we?", said Mrs. Lin with a big smile on his face.
