Climbing a mountain has long been my dream. Standing on top of the mountain, looking around everything beneath us would be a fascinating experience. However, in order to fulfill my dream, I need to learn more about mountain climbing skills. That's why I met Coach Lee. He is a seasoned mountain climber. He taught me both climbing and surviving skills. He also taught me how to react when I encounter wildlife, such as Formosan Black Bear. After three months of training, we finally set out our mission to climb Hekuan Mountain, which is at ^{roughly} 3000 meters altitude. During the climbing task, we faced with many obstacles, such as harsh weather conditions and mountain illness. However, Coach Lee just taught us what to do to weather those difficulties. Fortunately, we ended up living up to our goal to reach the mountain peak.

Living in a world with seven billion people, challenges seem inevitable in our daily life. Since we can't escape from them, learning to face them is important for most of us. Rather than flinching from those difficulties, we can take more positive measures, like asking for other's assistance. Take my mountain climbing experience for example, it is almost impossible for me, a seventeen-year-old girl to climb such a lofty mountain alone. But with the help of Coach Lee, I successfully fulfilled my dream and learned many climbing skills. We don't have to be born strongest or most intelligence; however, we can gain knowledge from others and get stronger for the next trial. Therefore, I contend that only those who are willing to learn from others can they turn the stumbling blocks into the stepping stones!
